Getting the cart before the horse

With all the euphoria over the just-approved tri-state megabucks, has anyone thought where the money will go?

Not lottery officials, apparently. Officials of the Georgia company that will manage the lottery, plus lottery commission members from the tri-state area of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont were quick to announce that half the money generated by the megabucks game will be paid to the winners. But, asked what the split will be between the manager of the game and the state governments involved, a spokesman for the Maine Lottery Commission told The Citizen: "It's a little too early in the game to determine how that pie will be split."

We think not. We think it has probably already been decided between the Georgia company and the three lottery commissions. The point of running a state lottery is not to amuse the citizenry and enrich the managers running the game, but to help out state coffers. The public should be told immediately what percentage the manager is going to get and how much will be left to split among the three state governments.

It may be that the megabucks game will be played for the benefit of an out-of-area company at the expense of the state. If this is the case, it would be best to continue playing Massachusetts Megabucks. At least the profits there go to aid public projects.

SCHOOL DIRECTORS MEET

David Walton of West Paris was approved as a substitute Home-School Coordinator for the first 60 days of the 1985-86 school year. After the first 60 days Mr. Walton must be certified by the state and re-approved by the directors. From 1979-81, he served in a similar capacity in SAD 44.

Mary E. Jordan of Poland was approved as a special education teacher at Crescent Park School for the 1985-86 year. She holds a BS degree from the University of Southern Maine and for the past two years has been a special education teacher for grades 5-8 at the Poland Community School.

Approved as special education teacher at Ethel Bisbee School for the 1985-86 school year was Nancy Harlow of Norway. She is currently a special education teacher at CPS.

Louise Chapman of Locke Mills was approved as a composite room teacher at Telstar Middle School for the next school year. Holder of a BA from the University of Southern Maine, for the past school year she has been a teacher in a self-contained classroom for the emotionally disturbed at Levitt Area High School in Turner. Mrs. Chapman is a former member of the SAD 44 Board of Directors.

Approval was granted to the appointment of Jean McGuire of Bethel to be a Chapter I teacher at the Andover Elementary School for the 1985-86 school year. A former teacher in SAD 44 she has also substituted in the district.

Melanie Swan Ellsworth of Locke Mills was approved as a Chapter I teacher at Crescent Park School for the 1985-86 school year. She holds a BS from the University of Maine at Farmington, did a portion of her practice teaching and substitute work in SAD 44.

Mary L. Seaman of Turner was approved as a special education teacher at Crescent Park School for the next school year. She has a BS from the

Over 75 residents turn out in Woodstock despite rain

Under lowering skies Monday, between 75 and 100 residents of Woodstock witnessed a traditional Memorial Day celebration. The ceremonies were organized by Alice Hoyt, the Reverend Roland Lord officiated.

The services began with the "Star Spangled Banner," played by the Telstar band before a gathering in front of the Soldiers Memorial. The ceremonies then moved to the Grange porch because of the rain. Rev. Lord offered an opening prayer of thanks, "For the nation and those who gave their lives for her."

Then Beth Sawyer read the General Orders of General John A. Logan, from the Civil War era, the period during which Memorial Day was begun, in order to, "cherish tenderly the memory of the heroic dead."

Next, three Woodstock schoolchildren read essays on "What Memorial Day means to me." Bobby Hand emphasized that it was a day for honoring the dead. He spoke of his father's service in Vietnam and the memorial wall in Washington. Meri Howe said soldiers of the past, "fought for people to be free and equal." Toni MacKillop noted it was a day of memory for the men who fought in all wars. He said he had an uncle who died in Vietnam. Then Dan Reynolds read Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address."

The Telstar band played "America" and Rev. Lord spoke on the meaning of the day. He emphasized that freedom

They have sent in to the DEP samples from sites at Billings Hill, South Woodstock, West Paris and Rowe Hill. Selectman Cliff York said, "It's very difficult to find this kind of soil in western Maine, as most of such soil has already been used up. On the seacoast it would be another matter, but [the cost involved] in trucking it from the site seems prohibitive."

On other matters, the selectmen noted that Road Commissioner Ken Koskela is progressing well with road repairs. For the past few weeks he has been working in the Concord Pond area.

University of Maine in Farmington and is certified in elementary education and learning disabilities. For the past two years she has taught all grades, kindergarten through grade eight at the Monhegan Island school with a student population of ten.

Joseph J. Bennett of Orono was approved as a teacher of grade five at Crescent Park School for the 1985-86 school year. Mr. Bennett has a BS in elementary education from UMO and for the past two years has been a graduate student at UMO in counselor and guidance education, also serving as a resident director/graduate assistant, residential life at the university.

A lengthy list of coaches and advisors for 1985-86 school were also approved. This list will be published in a future issue of The Citizen.

An agenda item concerning "attachment of an attendance policy to the present grading system" was referred to the school's Policy Committee for its recommendation.

With the exception of Rick McVey of Newry, all members of the board were present Monday evening.

The SAD 44 directors will meet next in regular session at 7:30 on Monday evening, June 10, in the library at Telstar Regional High School.

APPLE-USERS GROUP FOCUSES ON EDUCATIONAL UTILIZATION

The Bethel Area Apple-Users Group held its monthly meeting at Telstar High School May 1. The program was devoted to educational uses of the Apple.

David Preble and Jim Chandler are serving as the program committee and will plan special activities for the next few meetings. The group will meet on the first Monday of each month at Telstar at 7 p.m., with the next meeting to be held on June 5.

Colleen Andrews Bachelder received her degree of Associate of Science as Medical Laboratory Technician from the University of Maine, Presque Isle, May 18. Attending were her grandparents, Stanley and Gertrude Andrews, Bryant Pond, her mother, Louisa L. Newton, Bethel, and friends, Krista Hellmich, West Germany and Addie Plourde, Mars Hill. Also attending were her husband Aaron and their two daughters, Krista and Jennifer.

It was hard won and should be used and cherished. He called for a strong defense and a government that is the servant, not the master, of the people. He closed the ceremonies with the poem "In Flanders Fields."

The band, several veterans, and some school children then formed a small parade, which marched to the cemetery. Thus concluded the ceremony that was very much a traditional Memorial Day observance, in spite of the inclement weather.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:
Many thanks for permitting me to record a few lines about Marjorie MacArthur Noll.

Few organizations are fortunate enough to have members as devoted as "Marge" who was always willing to help wherever possible whether it be leading a museum tour, assisting with the mailing of the newsletter or serving refreshments at a reception. She was long active as head of the guide program of the society and also served on several committees including membership where she was particularly effective.

For an organization largely dependent upon volunteers for its many and varied programs and projects, Marge was the historical society director's dream—capable, enthusiastic, great with people and devoted to the cause. As a result of these qualities she was a tremendous source of support for me and the burdens always seemed much lighter with Marge's help.

Toward the end of her life when illness prevented her from activity in the society I would call her to see how things were going. She told me how much these calls meant to her and despite her suffering never failed to be interested in the latest society news.

Needless to say I will greatly miss Marge's interest, her sense of humor and thoroughly positive outlook. She was a great friend and a devoted volunteer, I will always be grateful to her for many kindnesses and extraordinary service to the society.

Very sincerely,
Stan Howe, Director
Bethel Historical Society

To the Editor:

It is unfortunate that in striving for concise headlines and article brevity, the reporter responsible for the front-page item in the May 22 Citizen—"Greenwood to Grant Lease for School House Use as Railroad Museum"—has taken significant areas of the discussion out of context. The proposal to explore the school property's availability was but one of several museum-feasible facilities suggested for examination at the RR Museum's Board meeting of May 14, in the continuing search of a suitable site capable of accommodating the Railroad Museum and its development with in the bounds served and represented by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce.

The discussion between the Greenwood Selectmen and myself which took place May 21, was nothing more than exactly that—a discussion—regarding availability of the Locke Mills schoolhouse property as a RR Museum site, and if available for such use, under what terms and essential arrangements, etc.; and with the evolving information to then be presented to the Museum's Board of Directors at the May 29 meeting for their analysis and whatever course of action they deemed appropriate on this particular site exploration.

Elements of the foregoing discussion included the necessity of apprising the Selectmen of this type of Museum's composition, functional use, seasonal growth, expansion intentions, and further considered the existence of street weight limits, zoning and environmental restrictions regarding emplacement of large external exhibits /would bring in during developmental phases if selected as Curator/Custodian of the Museum.

All the stored up beauty of spring was in an avalanche of green for the trees were in their shouting color and the pond was a deep blue. So I decided to enjoy the water for a "first" of the season. I took my oars and went to where my boat had been fastened a couple of weeks ago.

How nice to be out once again. It seemed quite natural to have the oars in my hands.

The sun sifted through the branches overhead and splintered the light into diamonds in the water, tossing them back into my eyes adding joy to a beginning. Then I became aware of the trilling of the birds' melodies and always, always the rustle of the leaves and the lap of water.

I first crossed the pond and explored the inlets along the shoreline. The grass glistened in the early light; the slant of the sun picked out the ripening spears; the swallows swam close above the grass then melted away.

I saw one sandpiper standing, as in a dream. Suddenly he fused into volition, and flew.

I heard the sparrows' faint "tsips" and "chips" of alarm, as I passed.

There came the call of an inquisitive chickadee.

"The earth has its music for those who will listen, its bright variations forever abound."

With all of the wonders that God has bequeathed us,

There's nothing that thrills like the magic of sound."

—Reginald Holmes

I moved down toward Big Pond but when I came to the mouth of Sanborn River I couldn't resist entering. I was out to enjoy the scenery and to appreciate the wonders of nature. The quiet and solitude were perfect complements to the scene and I lingered to capture the view.

From around a bend two ducks rose and flew by on high, reconnoitering me, then down stream only to turn and come back above me with outstretched heads. They flew against the sky which was like a cracked blue platter, overlapping the woods. Then they were lost in the distance.

A plane sounded above running at top speed moving with a fluid forward motion like a black snake up a tree.

I sat for a few minutes and listened to the changing sounds of the forest. I saw an oriole fly by carrying a fat bug for his lady. I wondered if he could be the same one which arrived at my home this week and ate my orange and grape jelly. She came too and early morning carried off the string which I had put out. I tell them each year, "You eat my fruit, build from my material, so why don't you nest in my tree!"

The gnarled old pine grew as usual, it had survived the winter winds.

Turning back down stream I watched a hawk come sailing in. The rapacious creature was flying high, using the air thermals to keep itself gliding on stiff pinions, as it circled. Now and then it emitted a sharp war whoop. As it dropped lower it vanished.

The current was sluggish and I was content to let the boat meander at will.

Pausing before leaving the river for home, I allowed the living world in which I was wrapped, to register on my consciousness, as I fixed my eyes on the endless blue above.

I became alert to the lateness of the Lettie and Carl Brooks and Olive Davis were at Pleasant Pond Grange, West Sumner, for their CWA meeting. They had a very good attendance.

Tuesday noon the Grangers furnished a ham dinner for the hospital auxiliary at the hall.

Sunday I was in Bridgton at Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews' home where they had a cook-out for two of their daughters' birthdays, Nancy Smith and Sharon Goldsmith. A birthday cake was served later with the girls doing the honors of cutting. Gifts were presented to them.

Esther Davis and daughter, Patsy Tibbets, took in the supper and dance at West Sumner Grange Hall which was for the Tri Town Ambulance Service and the Grange. They reported a good crowd.

Eric Clements has finished his second year at the University of Maine and is home for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Clements, David and Eric went to Troy, N.Y., to the graduation of their son, Bruce. He completed four years in computer science and is home now. As they were returning over the weekend, they made calls on friends and relatives along the way.

The Tuesday Club went out for lunch May 21.

Kathy Curtis spent several days in the hospital but is better and at home again.

I attended the Oxford County Retired Teachers' meeting in Oxford on Saturday, May 18.

David Holt, Dexter, came to see his uncle Bernard Morgan at Stephens Memorial Hospital on Sunday. Ann Holt, Bethel, was there also. Fay Holt, Clyde and I have visited often during the week.

Callers at Frank and Dot Curtis' were Mildred Bowman, Hebron, and Alton Kimball, Waterford.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Curtis the callers were Mrs. Lillian Strait and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cogswell and granddaughter, Rachel Colista, and son, Troy, all of Freeport, Albert Curtis Jr., Buckfield, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Curtis, Farmington, and Ray Curtis of Oxford.

Doris Hayes had a busy weekend at her home on Hayes Hill. Saturday overnight guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Terry Spires and two children of New Hampshire; Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Spires of Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Hayes, Boulder, Col. Evening visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hayes and children, West Paris; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Maglione, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hayes, also of West Paris. They all went out for supper at which time they were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Ardell Hayes of Auburn. On their return to the Hayes Homestead there was the christening of baby, Orin Heath Hayes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scot Hayes.

There were 15 for breakfast in South Paris and Lenora Waterhouse and daughter, Marcia, Verna Libby and Helen Cole of Falmouth as well as Mr. and Mrs. Chester Haselton of West Paris. Then all left for their return trip to their homes.

The close cropped green of the lawns somehow reflected the somber serenity within the gates, and the billowing clouds gathering overhead were reflected at the water's edge, as the waves lapped against the shoreline in hushed muted tones, ever so gently caressing and embracing memories so long ago.

Here and there silhouetted against the white marble and grey granite, the red, white and blue of the American flag fluttered in the breeze, signifying the valiant faith and ultra-respect of our country's freedom—many times far beyond the call of duty, a life laid down in dedication to the principles upon which this great nation was founded.

People are seen kneeling before their loved ones markers, placing there a flower, in remembrance of the bonds that forever tie. Their lips moving to a silent heart-felt prayer of their own. In the distance the muted rolls of the drums are rolling over nearer, marching onward to the final resting place.

Silence reigns—children were hushed, and a 12 gun salute echoed to the mountains, as "Taps" bids a goodbye to comrades who lie there.

Echoes of the past were being honored. May the ideals—the spirit, and the cause never die—for their memories sake—pray for peace!

The Gilead Women's Club sponsored a very successful rabies clinic on May 18. Twenty-six dogs and several cats were inoculated and plans are being made to make this an annual event.

Mrs. Mary Tyler, a recent graduate of the University of Maine at Farmington, has accepted a position as a civil draftsman with Holden Engineering and Surveying in Concord, N.H., and will be starting her new career the second week of June. Congratulations, Mary, for your long perseverance, and much success is wished for you.

Anita Ferrand and Louise Loring were in Berlin recently and lunched at a restaurant.

The Gilead dump has returned to its summer hours and will only be open on Tuesdays and Saturdays until further notice.

We have enjoyed several cuttings from our asparagus bed as well as rhubarb, prepared in many tantalizing ways.

An afternoon of bird watching in my back yard comprised the introduction of several new neighbors: a magnolia warbler, the yellow throat, the yellow warbler, a pair of Baltimore orioles; catbird, robins, tree and barn swallows, purple finches, starlings, evening grosbeaks, grackles and 12 cedar waxwings working the apple trees. After my husband hung a hummingbird feeder, I was afraid he had mixed the wrong ratio of nectar as a ruby throat proceeded to do a series of dive bombs, side loops and other crazy flight patterns. I was relieved when I consulted the bird book to find this is his courting ritual, and with field glasses, friend Mary and I observed the object of his affections resting amongst the vines that entangle the hedgerows.

There were 15 for breakfast in South Paris and Lenora Waterhouse and daughter, Marcia, Verna Libby and Helen Cole of Falmouth as well as Mr. and Mrs. Chester Haselton of West Paris. Then all left for their return trip to their homes.

Comings and Goings About Town:
Clayton Smith and Barbara Davis, Winchester, Va., were recent visitors of his grandmother, Ella Smith, and his great-aunt, Lyndell Farr.

Avis and Bill Stellhorn have returned to Maine for the summer.

Impi Mack was the guest of Honor at a party celebrating her 70th birthday. Attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Haverinen, Mr. and Mrs. Elias McKeen, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lovejoy, Jay Whittemore, Cindy Whittemore, Chris Whittemore, Beth Deshon, Julie Gleason, Lynn McKeen, Lisa, Becky, and Janet McKeen, Tiffany Fellows, Jennifer Haverinen, Franklin Lovejoy, Marcia Baxter, Ellen Lovejoy, Joel and Jolene Martino, Faith and Hope Groder, Jason and Kevin Goulet, and Tina Bourget.

Last Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mack and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Lovejoy were in Sebec and Dover-Foxcroft to visit cemeteries, and also visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Turner in Palmyra.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mack visited Elsie Libby in the Bridgton hospital recently.

Newton and Joyce Lamb, Mrs. Patricia Lamb, Mike and Judy McLaughlin, Nina, Kyra and Kelly, were among those in attendance at a cookout at Kennie Lamb's camp, Greenwood, last week.

There was once a time when apple barrels sold for 65 cents, and everyone knew what a die-block was. Howard and Irvin Ellingwood told about those times at the May 20 Historical Society meeting, and shared photographs of some old local mills and the crews who manned them.

During the business meeting it was decided to cancel the June meeting because of conflicting dates. The July meeting will be held at Beverly Glines camp on North Pond in Locke Mills. Each person should bring their own picnic supper.

Deda Chase, Lyndell Farr, and Miriam Inman will form the nominating committee for the election of officers at the July meeting.

The Aug. 19 meeting will be at Howard and Lois Ellingwood's camp on Pleasant Pond in West Summer.

A speaker was requested to relate town history to Oxford Hills Junior High students on May 24. Clarence Reid was duly elected to fill that request.

The West Paris Senior Citizens met May 7 for a potluck dinner and monthly meeting. Twenty-six members and three guests attended. Get well cards were signed for Margaret Nangle, and Ella Smith.

Waine Heikkinen showed some interesting slides of deer. Also a bag auction was held.

On June 4 there will be a potluck dinner and meeting. Carl Brooks will entertain with his "dancing dolls." Also trips for this summer will be discussed.

The following is a list of books recently added to the shelves of the West Paris Public Library.

Children's selections: It's My Body; Like Jake and Me; Story of the Jumping Mouse; Cat Who Went to Heaven; Sing Down the Moon; Did You Ever Pet a Cat Bear?; Chipmunks Counting Book; Baby Bears Surprise; Cabbage Patch Kids; Care Bears.

Adult books: Men and Angels; Moscow Rules; One Day at a Time; Such a Vision of the Street; Children of the Lion; The Shepherd Kings; Vengeance of the Lion; The Lion in Egypt; Kitty My Rib; Riders of the Long Roads; Protect Your Child; Maddy's Song; Hero and the Crown; Thinner; Moves That Make the Man; Scenic Highways; Lena; Beans of Egypt, Maine. A number of large print books are also available, along with son Polaroid cameras which can be borrowed.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Rugg, with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Barker of South Paris and other motorcycle enthusiasts enjoyed a club trip to New York State recently.

Mrs. Connie Hindman and her mother, Mrs. Myra Doyen, were in Farmington, one day this week to visit cemeteries and call on friends there.

Jimmy Kimball has been at his doctors recently for further check-up.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Parsons were in Lewiston one day this week.

Weston Flint and Mrs. Winona Verill of South Paris called on Mrs. Myra Doyen last Sunday and took her out to dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Barker of South Paris called on the Jimmy Kimball Thursday evening. Expected company for the weekend are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Pepin and Samantha of South Portland.

I spent the past eight days with my daughter and family in Ossifield returning home Thursday afternoon. Was also in Rumford Friday morning for health tests.

One of the beauties of God's handiwork is riding along Rte. 2 towards Rumford on early sunny morning. The varying shades of green on the tree covered hillsides, the river diamond sparkling in the morning sunlight, the little towns nestled in between with their church steeples rising above. One has to feel peace in our little corner of the world.

Project Graduation plans all-night party

Project Graduation is a chemical-free party that offers an evening full of pleasant memories and lots to do and eat for the senior class and guests.

They have secured the Hillside Racquetball Club in South Paris for the evening's events.

Prior to leaving by school bus for the site, the seniors, families and guests will enjoy a reception in the Telstar Regional High School cafeteria, with punch and sweets.

The party at the racquetball club offers music, played by a disc jockey from WJBQ, procured and paid for by the Bethel Fire Department, video games, donated by Ferris Music Co., VCR movies, full use of the facilities at the racquetball club, which include sauna, whirlpool, table tennis and volleyball.

There will be other games available to keep the fun flowing, such as Trivial Pursuit, cribbage, checkers, chess, darts and other board games.

During the activities throughout the evening, prizes—donated by businesses in the SAD 44 community—will be given by drawing.

In the morning, breakfast will be served by the Bethel Legion.

In addition to those firms and organizations listed above, others who are helping make the project a success are: The Only Place, West Bethel Mini Golf, Brooks Bros., Hanover Dowel, Wilson Logging, Newton Tibbets, Douglass Bed and Breakfast, Mt. Abram Fish and Game, L.E. Davis Lumber, Pepsi Cola of Auburn, Northern Oxford Bethel Area Health Center, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Colby, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Angevine, Frito-Lay Co., Bachman Chips.

The program gives seniors a choice to participate in an activity designed to be free of cost and free of chemicals, which in the past have been very costly due to loss of life.

The Woodstock Historical Society will hold open house June 1. Free refreshments. Everyone is welcome to come view their refinished building.

The Woodstock Senior Citizens will meet Thursday, June 6, at the Grange Hall. Franklin Grange will serve the dinner.

A reminder: the bottle drive at the Woodstock Gym, Saturday, June 1, to 2 p.m. for pick-up call 665-2223 or 665-2554.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Hathaway have returned home from a trip with their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Estes.

Franklin Grange #124 held CWA meeting on Monday, May 20, with 36 people attending. The following held office: Master, Charlotte Cole; Overseer, Peggy Blake; Lecturer, Alice Hoyt; Steward, Loretta Hall; Lady Assistant Steward, Verna Swan; Chaplain, Marion York; Treasurer, Mary Billings; Secretary, Lettie Brooks; Gatekeeper, Jackie Stevens; Ceres, Irene Mills; Pomona, Lena Dean; Flora, Audrey Hadley; Pianist, Dot Canwell; CWA, Beatrice Farmum, Kaye Billings, and Ruby Emery. Larry Billings was accepted as a member of Franklin Grange on May 20.

Peggy and Russell were in Lewiston on Monday for appointments with a chiropractor and came over to see the new baby as well as to bring my mail to me. Peggy said she would be leaving for Massachusetts in a day or two to work for a lady she worked for last summer. She hadn't expected to go just yet, but the lady was left without any help, so Peggy is going to go sooner than she had planned. That's the way things work out at times.

I had to go to North Bridgton on Tuesday for an appointment and the lady who was to drive me had hurt her back, so had to call Russell to come to the rescue. I drove to Oxford and met him at the Grange Hall and he drove me from there. It is the farthest I have driven for three years and was a little much for these old legs and arms. They have hollered at me ever since with lots of pain and swelling. However, I did get them and got my treatment which I needed very badly. It was a pretty ride through the country seeing the leaves opening to their fullness and making the countryside a beautiful place.

Russell reports that he is doing what he can to get a garden started and wish I could be there to help him, but just can't be in two places at once. Nonie had to have help and Russell needs it too, but I kind of had to choose and it is nice to help with the new baby and let her know her Nana loves her as well as Courtney. Speaking of Courtney, it doesn't seem possible that she is two years old yet, but her birthday was May 22 and we are having a party for her on the 26th, which is Sunday. I am sure she will have a good time and she is a very understanding little girl for her age. She can't tell you all she knows, but as I said her understanding is great.

I have been busy doing housework and washing etc., to help all I can. It keeps me out of mischief and I need to be able to do a lot of sewing. I have done some and hope to be able to do more before I go home in a few weeks. Wish I knew more that was happening on High Street, but as I am not there at the moment, I don't know how everyone is.

Am having some trouble with my car, but hope it keeps going while I am here. I would have to go without my treatments and it is quite a ways to get to North Bridgton from here. Got to see if I can find someone to look at my car if I can find someone to do something for it who doesn't charge all outdoors and that is hard to find.

Not much to report, really while I am down here as I don't have the facts about things going on on High Street.

Will see you next week with a little information so take care and I'll see you.

LOCAL ELECTIONS MONDAY

Most of the candidates (except for Mr. Haines) submitted themselves to a group interview conducted by members of the local press last Thursday night. (Mr. Haines has been working nights.) Some of their comments follow.

Among the school board candidates, all of them felt the budget expenditures (to be voted on tonight—Wednesday) were proper, and possibly low, in some instances. Will Graham pointed out that the elementary schools in Bethel are very overcrowded. "If the facilities are so overcrowded...that interferes with the running of the whole school."

Kay Chadbourné indicated her priorities by saying, "If I had to choose between (classrooms) and the quality of the teachers, I'd put the money into the teachers."

Paul McGuire said, "Certainly salaries should be commensurate with salaries around the state."

And Cheryl Eliot said, "I don't think they (teachers) could be paid enough. I don't think they're overpaid."

Mrs. Chadbourné commented further, "I want to be competitive in regards to having a choice on whom we can hire, but I don't want to compete with school districts who can offer twice as much as we can."

Mr. Graham, an English instructor at Gould Academy, with two children about to enter the local school system, said he is strongly supportive of teachers. If elected, he said, he would support the teachers' viewpoints to the board. "The board allocates the money but is sort of out of touch with what is going on (in the schools)."

Mr. Graham was a volunteer on the state team that wrote an assessment of Ethel Bisbee School this year. This past winter he taught writing in the adult education program.

Mr. McGuire is a history instructor and administrator at Gould Academy. He has two children in the local school system. He believes strongly that every student who passes through the system should be taught the cultural values of Western civilization. "I'd like to see liberal education extended from kindergarten all the way up to graduation," he said.

A liberal education helps students think critically, he argued, and therefore all students should be exposed to Shakespeare and algebra, whether or not they will need it in further education. Conversely, he said, he would like to see college-bound youngsters required to take some vocational courses to make them more well-rounded.

Mrs. Chadbourné has also been a teacher. She said, "I, too, am very concerned with curriculum development and educational environment." During her tenure on the board, she worked on the committee that set up a new curriculum for business students. She also sits on the NOVA board and is trying to help vocational students. She has one child presently in Bethel schools.

Mrs. Eliot, head teller supervisor at The Bethel Savings Bank, has three children in local schools. Unlike the others, she has no teaching experience. However, she did drive a school bus when she and her family lived in the SAD 17 area. "That was an education," she said.

She is particularly concerned with athletic programs at the high school and worries about the lack of a track. "Track participants need the availability of some sort of track to work on," she said.

Mr. McGuire said he was most concerned by what he viewed as an understaffed guidance office at the high school. "There's only one person to do it. He works against tremendous odds. I would like to see more assistance for the person there," he said.

Two of the three selectmen candidates who took part in the interview felt there was too much fat in the budget being presented to town meeting voters next Tuesday night.

"There's always a place to save money," said Burt Hejduk, supervisor of buildings and grounds at Gould Academy.

"There probably never was a budget" written that didn't have a budget item that could be cut and trimmed," said Victor Coolidge.

Only Edleen Winslow supported the budget worked up by the selectmen and the budget committee. "I don't see an area where they're overspending," she said. The owner of Charlie's Place, Mrs. Winslow nevertheless faulted the selectmen for proposing spending money on a new grader. "In my own business, I look for second-hand equipment before I look for new. A piece of second-hand equipment should be just as useful as a brand new."

The other candidates felt the same way. "I don't think we need a new grader for all we use it," said Mr. Coolidge, who is supervisor at National Woodworking, in Oxford, and is also a partner in Coolidge Bros. feed and seed store.

Mr. Hejduk commented: "I'm very comfortable with buying used machinery."

The candidates all felt the ambulance garage project is way more expensive than it need be. "I don't see why they can't build a building for $72,000," said Mrs. Winslow. "The first mention was of a heated garage for two ambulances," recalled Mr. Hejduk, saying that concept should not have required more than $50,000. Mr. Coolidge said it was a mistake bringing an architect in on the project. "Now we've got to pay an architect $8,200 for a dead horse." (The architect submitted a bill for $8,200 but has agreed to settle for $6,000.)

The candidates were also mostly against spending money to improve the landfill. Mr. Coolidge suggested the town should have been looking around last year to get its trash accepted at a regional incinerator instead of buying a bucket loader to use as a compactor at the landfill. "Now that we've draggeed our feet, we're bottom man on the totem pole (for getting into an incinerator.)"

Mr. Hejduk commented: "I'm very much favor the plan of hauling the stuff away if you can find a place to haul it to."

The candidates were all against expanding the airport, as the town has

(the airport expansion)," said Mr. Coolidge.

Some of the candidates had particular peeves with town government. Police protection was what irked Mrs. Winslow. She said her pizza place has been broken into five times and the police have not apprehended the guilty parties. "I'm not exactly satisfied with what I've seen of the protection," she said.

Mr. Hejduk suggested the town organize volunteers to form a sort of Neighborhood Watch crime-deterring network.

Mr. Hejduk's pet peeve was town water. "There are times when it's unbelievable—a glass of water looks worse than river water," he said. Mrs. Winslow commented, "I don't think they take as much care (at the reservoir) as they used to."

All the candidates were in favor of attracting business and industry to town in order to spur the local economy and boost job opportunities. "I'd like to see tourism—more of it—in Bethel," said Mrs. Winslow. "Local people need more job opportunities." She was optimistic that current expansion at Sunday River and Mt. Abram will spread development throughout the area.

Mr. Coolidge would prefer manufacturing to tourism. "I'd like to see one or two more industries in town, preferable not wood-industry related, even if requires use of tax money backing." He said it was important to diversify the local economy. "We've got wood industries and tourism and that's all we've got." More businesses would not only provide more jobs, but a bigger tax base, he pointed out.

Until town government helps business, nothing will happen, commented Mr. Hejduk. "Right now a

Gould proctors chosen for coming school year

At a morning all-school assembly, Gould Academy's student leaders for the school year 1985-86 were announced by Assistant Admissions Director Lorenzo Baker.

Fourteen junior students were chosen to assist the faculty in the daily operation of the school's four dormitories and to serve in the capacity of a student council and/or student government. They work closely with dormitory faculty and the administration and are given extensive training to assist them in this capacity.

Proctors are chosen by a vote of the students and faculty and are selected on the basis of maturity, ability to handle both academic work and extracurricular activities, dependability and leadership.

Those chosen were: Anne Courchesne, Hampton Falls, N.H.; Jay Davis, Bethel; Sallie Fiske, East Stoneham; Harald Kaplan, Brownsville, Vt.; Don Kingsbury, Port Clyde; Bill McCarthy, Acton, Mass.; Carrie Moore, Nacogdoches, Tex.; Paul Natal, New York, N.Y.; Spencer Ordway, Bridgton; Rainy Ortega, Poland Spring; Eunice Pikuzinski, Bridgton; Lucian Smith, Kennebunkport; and Erika Tobin, Blue Hill.

Gould graduates do senior projects during month of May

Many of Gould's graduating class finished up final exams earlier this month and set about spending their last weeks doing senior projects—either on or off campus.

Those who did on-campus projects were: Jennifer Allen, natural history; Mike Angell, trail work and ski jump renovation; Ted Brown, veterinary science; David Cranston, business management; Mike Greifendorf, pottery; Jennifer Griffin, stained glass; Brian Grover, yearbook; Missi Healey, internship in the admissions office; Heather Hill elementary education; Michelle Prince, natural history.

Also, Caro Sambrook, secondary education; Thayer Shedd, logging; Nicole Tarnay, silversmithing; Heather Taylor, elementary education; Sam Welsh, yearbook; Mark Werner, trail work and ski jump renovation; Ruth Wescott, osteopathic medicine; Larry Wills, elementary education; Laura Yaffe, field biology; Sam Zwecker, photography.

Those who did off-campus projects were: Pamela Briggs, audio-visual education; Scott Baker, sales; Ann Chorn, living in a monastery; Nathan Duson, video production; Scott Merrill, internship in the Lewiston office of U.S. Senator George Mitchell; David Moreshead, state senate aide; Keith Newfield, business; Sarah Putnam, business; David Riley, business/scuba diving; Eric Sahud, photography.

12 inducted into NHS during Gould assembly

Twelve Gould Academy students were inducted into the National Honor Society earlier this month during an all-school assembly.

Dr. Harry "Dutch" Dresser, Gould's assistant headmaster, acted as master of ceremonies and introduced the program. In his remarks he stated, "There are many kinds of student leaders on a school campus. There are those who lead on the athletic fields, those who lead in the dormitories and those who lead in the classroom. I am pleased to be able to honor a group of the community's leaders this morning. This group is special because each member in the group has been selected as representing faculty ideals in several categories of performance. These students are elected members of the National Honor Society."

"The National Honor Society is sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals and was created to encourage enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership and to encourage the development of character in secondary school citizens."

To be eligible, a student must first earn a minimum scholarship average of 85. Secondly, a candidate is to be considered for service, leadership and character by vote of the faculty.

Members of this year's senior class elected to the National Honor Society in their sophomore or junior years and initiated at that time are: Jennifer Allen, Wolfville, Nova Scotia; Matthew Bevin, Shelburne, N.H.; Mike Greifendorf, Rangeley; Sarah Putnam, Bethel; Janet Sanborn, Gorham, N.H.; and Bud Johnson, Bethel.

Members of this year's junior class elected to provisional membership in their sophomore year and promoted to full membership this year are: Anne Courchesne, Hampton Falls, N.H.; Jay Davis, Bethel; Erika Dresser, Bethel;

SPRING CLEAN-UP: Gould Academy staff and students take time out each week to clean up the grounds of the school.

Undergraduate awards

William P. Clough III, headmaster of Gould Academy, presided over a special awards assembly to honor those Gould students in the freshman, sophomore and junior classes who had achieved outstanding records during the school year.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Clough stated: "No one in any class can succeed completely on his or her own. Each person named to receive an award owes debts to teachers, parents, classmates and friends. Everyone in this auditorium is deserving of an award for what appears to be the significant achievements of only a few, and those few who are chosen must serve as symbols of the best of all of us."

Academic book prizes were awarded to the following:

- Freshman English, Rebecca Garnett, Newcastle.
- Sophomore English, Timothy Bevin, Shelburne, N.H.
- Junior English, Leah Garnett, Newcastle, and Jay Davis, Bethel.
- German III, Erika Dresser, Bethel.
- French I, Rebecca Garnett.
- French II, Elaine Bicknell, Lexington, Mass.
- French III, Jay Davis.
- French IV, Sallie Fiske, East Stoneham.
- Spanish II, Jimmy Simbe, Los Angeles, Calif.
- Spanish IV, Andrew Sahud, Piedmont, Calif.
- Algebra I, Lisa Todd, Bethel.
- Geometry, David Dixon, Bath.
- Algebra II, Gregory Ng, Los Angeles, Calif.
- Advanced Mathematics, Derek Dresser, Bethel.
- Freshman History, Rebecca Garnett.
- Sophomore History, Jonathan

MICHELLE PRINCE (left), of East Boothbay, is this year's valedictorian. Jenn Allen, of Wolfville, Nova Scotia, is salutatorian.

Komlosy, Yarmouth.

- Junior History, Leah Garnett.
- Freshman Biology, Rebecca Garnett.
- Sophomore Biology, Louis Smithwick, Memphis, Tenn.
- Earth Science, Jonathan Komlosy.
- Sophomore Chemistry, Derek Dresser.
- Junior Chemistry, Erika Tobin, Blue Hill.
- Sophomore Art, Emmanuel Boos, Bourges, France.
- Junior Art, Thomas Canney, Portsmouth, N.H.

The Rensselaer Medal, awarded in some 1,000 selected secondary schools in the country for the junior with the highest combined average in science and mathematics went to Erika Tobin.

The Edmond J. Vachon award was created by Gould Academy in honor of Headmaster Emeritus Vachon, who joined the faculty in 1940, became senior master in 1941, associate headmaster in 1954 and headmaster in 1959. Mr. Vachon also served on the Gould Board of Trustees from 1961 until his retirement in 1967. This award is given each year to the member of the junior class who had outstanding contributions to the school and the community. The 1985 Vachon Award was presented to Jay Davis.

Strider is Gould graduation speaker

Dr. Robert E. L. Strider II, president emeritus of Colby College, will deliver the principal address at the 149th commencement exercises at Gould Academy on June 1.

Dr. Strider was born in West Virginia, went to high school in Virginia, and received A.B., A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University.

During World War II he spent four years in the United States Navy, leaving the service as a lieutenant. He then taught English at Connecticut College and at Colby College, where he was dean of the faculty.

In 1960 he was named president of Colby, a position he held until 1979. Since that time he has been working as an educational consultant and was institute professor and dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Wentworth Institute of Technology, in Boston.

Currently, Dr. Strider serves as the chairman of the Bishop's Advisory Committee on Ministry to Higher Education for the Episcopal Diocese of Massachusetts and was appointed chairman of the visiting committee to the University of Maine by Governor Brennan.

He is a member of the Modern Language Association of America, the Milton Society of America and the Renaissance Society of America. In 1982 he was inducted into the Wheeling, W. Va., Hall of Fame and has received 11 honorary degrees from colleges and universities.

Dr. Strider has a connection with Gould Academy, as the school's headmaster, William P. Clough II, was a student at Colby during the time that he was the college's president. Dr. Strider will deliver his commencement address at Gould's 10:30 a.m. exercises, planned for outside, weather permitting, in front of William Bingham Hall.

Dresser named navigator for TransAt ocean race

Dr. Harry "Dutch" Dresser, Gould Academy's assistant headmaster, has been named navigator of the yacht "Greyfax" for this year's TransAt ocean race from Daytona, Fla., to Bermuda.

The TransAt is a 1,000-mile race that takes approximately six to seven days to complete. This year there are 35 boats entered, which range in size from 30 to 54 feet in length. The crew sizes vary from four to fourteen. The "Greyfax" is a Penobscot Bay boat of 39-foot length and will have a crew of six.

"Dutch" Dresser is an experienced ocean racer who has competed in the TransAt several times. He teaches a course at Gould in navigation and is offering a navigation course during Gould's summer school. The course includes a two-week cruise so that the students can get lots of practical experience. Mr. Dresser has taught Power Squadron navigation courses and is currently rewriting the Power Squadron book on navigation.

Sue Mellett

Bevin wins ROTC scholarship

Matthew Bevin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery Bevin, Shelburne, N.H., has been awarded a four-year ROTC scholarship at Washington & Lee University, in Lexington, Va., where he will study business administration.

The ROTC scholarship pays tuition and fees at the university, as well as a stipend each month. In return, Matt is committed to four years active duty as an officer at the completion of his undergraduate studies as well as a summer at an Army training base.

Matt has been at Gould for three years, during which time he has been active on the soccer and lacrosse teams, had a part in the winter term drama put on by the Gould players, is a member of the National Honor Society, a member of Blue Key, Gould's student service organization, and is a proctor and member of Gould's student leadership.

Mellett completes first year as Gould athletic director

Susan J. Mellett is wrapping up her first year as athletic director at Gould Academy. This would not normally be a newsworthy event except for the fact that she is Gould's first woman AD—and one of but a handful of female athletic directors in northern New England.

The job of athletic director has traditionally been dominated by men. However, Ms. Mellett finds she gets equal treatment and has had very few problems dealing with other athletic directors in either public or private school leagues.

"One fellow did try to get the better of the scheduling with me," she said, "but quickly found out I wasn't going to be pushed around."

Ms. Mellett finds the job of athletic director fun and enjoyable and always looks forward to dealing with her counterparts in the MAISAD (Maine Association of Independent Schools Athletic Directors League, where she is at present the only female).

Ms. Mellett is a 1981 graduate of the University of New Hampshire, where she majored in physical education and athletic training.

She lettered in three sports at UNH: field hockey, skiing and lacrosse. In skiing she was named to the All Eastern College team (honorable mention), and in lacrosse she was selected All New England for two years.

She has taught at Gould for four years, serving as head of Gehring Dormitory for women, head women's soccer and lacrosse coach and director of Gould's alpine ski racing program and Christmas ski camp, in addition to her duties as athletic director.

Bill Walker and workmen have screened in the Leroy Smiths porch.
Leroy and Pauline Smith recently visited their daughter, Carolyn. The also went to the cemetery in Buckfield.

The snowmobile club members put on a supper for the landowners Saturday night. Well attended and well done.
Kermit Merrill was here over the weekend.

Edgar and Eunice Grover took Leroy and Pauline Smith to see Carroll and Florence Stearns Wednesday and also made other calls. They had dinner in South Paris.

Mr. and Mrs. Brad Crosby were here at their camp on Cushman Pond Brook.
Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smith called at Leroy Smith's this past week.

Glad to hear that Martha Stone has returned from the Bridgton hospital.

Sunday was children's day at the church. Very nice program. Food sale was for the camp fund.

Leroy Smith and John Fox were fishing Wednesday.

Marlin Bassett, our granddaughter, has returned from Mount Holyoke College, Massachusetts. She is still in class at Portland—she will work there this summer.

The ladies of the church are putting together a quilt for the August sale.
Scottie Allen spent the day Wednesday with her grandmother, Iva Fox.

Brad Crosby, Roy Smith, called Monday night at Steve and Jane Henderson, West Lovell.

Arline Merrill and Margaret Weeks are cleaning home this week.

American Legion District Meeting in Auburn on Sunday and the Oxford County Council meeting in Fryeburg on Tuesday. They have been busy putting flags on the cemeteries for Memorial.

Bob and Mona enjoyed a supper at the Chicken Coop in Mexico, Saturday evening.

Leah Deegan has been away this week. She has been spending it with her sister, Marion Soule, at Palermo, Joe told me.

Gloria, Sandy and Seth Wilson have been out to visit Irene Wilson recently.

Maude Harrington went with Ray,
Janice and Patrick Harrington to the Boy Scouts award banquet at Telstar, Thursday evening.

Joe and Muriel Gilbert were in Lewiston shopping one day this week.

Upton

By ARLINE BERNIER

Andy and Dolly Cole were in New York recently to attend a daughter's graduation from college.

Thursday smacked of summer as several cars bumped and zigzagged to our doorway. Fred and Marion visited Margaret Mitchell, then came on to set a spell with us. Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Smith of South Paris arrived as Fred and Marion were taking leave. The Smiths have been studying genealogy and learned that she was related to the Lombards, former residents of Upton and Magalloway. They have been searching for information from cemeteries, town histories and other leads. We knew Jimmy and his parents several years ago and had a pleasant visit.

Phil Korhonen brought a load of salad dressing and returned with 200 apple boxes.

Don Scott brought several loads of leaves and went home with an appetite for native strawberries which he will have in exchange in due time.

Several years ago—or maybe I should say, "Once upon a time" when the common mode of transportation in summer was a horse and buggy and when East B Hill sported little if any tal-or gravel and the dirt was deep and sloppy through months of spring, a couple set out before the heat of summer had hardened the road more than just passable to make the long, arduous 15 mile journey to Andover.

Mertie was large, past middle age and lame with rheumatism or arthritis. She was skittish about riding through the mud holes, with the horse struggling and the buggy tipping to one side or the other while the wheels splattered globs of mud into the carriage, so when an especially bad mud hole loomed ahead she cried out to Cliff to stop! It was a difficult process for her to get down from the buggy with the high steps, then she walked around the mud hole trying to keep her skirt and petticoats up enough to stay clean until she got back to the buggy and another struggle to heave herself up into it.

Finally, Cliff became impatient. They had gone through the process several times and Andover was still miles beyond. So when Mertie cried, "Stop, Cliff, stop and let me out," Cliff said,
"This waitin' don't pay" and he slapped the horse sharply on the rump with the reins. The startled animal lunged, leaping into the mud hole and up on the other side—alone. The traces broke when the horse lunged so Cliff and Mertie sat in a horseless carriage on the near side of the mud hole.

Roland and I conceived and constructed a nifty weeding tool for the deep rooted clumps of weeds. I wanted a miniature gas-powered clamshell but thought it might be a little more compicated than we can handle this year.

Margaret Mitchell was among those viewing the "new look" at the Bergeron home when she attended the housewarming party. Margaret had not seen any of the interior decorating and remodeling which began last fall and the rest of us are getting accustomed to it.

Joseph Bergeron spent an overnight in Locke Mills with classmate Joshua Morton.

I enjoyed a musical special in Andover
Friday and visited with the other guests from Andover and with Arthur and Ruth Cummings of Bethel.

Sunday, I attended another musical program in West Milan which included gospel, blue grass and other renditions by a variety of groups and singers.

Edith Kenyon recently celebrated her 100th birthday. Her daughters, Dolly and Clara Louise, have summer homes on Umbagog Lake where the Ken-yon's spent many summers.

Edgar and Madeline Worster are observing their 50th wedding anniversary in late June. Madeline was the daughter of Jim and Grace Barnett and grew up in the house now owned by Leroy Wells and built by a Mr. Brooks of the Bethel Brooks family. After her marriage she spent some years housekeeping for her father and Edgar was employed in some of Jim's lumber operations. Later they moved to North Easton, Mass., where they now live. For those who might want to send cards, the address is: 82 Washington St., North Easton, Mass. 02356.

Next week, I'll write a yarn about Edgar and another son-in-law when they drove team for Jim.

The humming birds arrived May 19 and the swallows—and bugs came shortly afterwards. One hummer got in the porch, so I caught him to release him outside. He was a warm handful and his heart beat very rapidly.

rybel. Albert is getting around very well on his artificial leg—he is able to drive the tractors, plant potatoes and peas and expects to do hoeing this year also.

Leland Coolidge took Albert Foster to Bryant Pond Wednesday to get his hair cut. They visited Victor Brooks while there.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilmot of Auburn visited Mrs. Myra Foster Thursday when they were on the way to the cemetery in East Bethel. Afterwards they visited Mrs. Jo Tyler in Dixfield for dinner.

There were 25 people at the cemetery

Mr. and Mrs. John Foster of Andover

20.

Mrs. Rick Westleigh and Mrs. June very interesting and instructive as the demonstrator answered all questions bread sticks.

I am glad to be back from my winter

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Blackburn Jr.

Blackburn - Bennett

The West Bethel Union Church, decorated with baskets of colored daisies, was the setting April 27 for the wedding of Carole Ann Bennett and Robert Blackburn Jr.

The bride dressed in white taffeta trimmed with lace and seed pearls, veil cap with net and lace, was escorted to the altar by her father, Donald A. Bennett.

The maid of honor, Carolyn Bennett, twin sister of the bride, wore a gown of blue taffeta and voile trimmed with lace and carried one red rose.

The bridesmaids, Rose and Janice Bennett, sisters-in-law of the bride, Jerri Gabel and Carol Crockett, friends of the bride, wore gowns of pink taffeta and voile trimmed with lace and carried one pink rose.

The best man was David Gabel, friend of the groom. Groomsmen were George Matters and John Salter. Ushers were Malcolm and Larry Bennett.

Rev. Norman Rust performed the double-ring ceremony. Susan Glines was the organist.

Following a reception at Sunday River Inn, the couple spent the night at Town & Country, Gorham, N.H. They left Sunday for Niagara Falls, N.Y., then home to Katy, Texas.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Bennett and their daughter, Leann, of Wimberly, Texas; Lucille Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. George Matters and family, of Baltimore, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. David Gabel and son and John Salter of Houston, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Craig Boyd and Chelsea, of Brewer; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilbert and family of Wilton; Mrs. Earl Aremburg and Heather, of Haverhill, N.H. Photography was done by Renee C. Luxton, of Bethel.

Aircraft operations into and out of the field are expected to grow from the present 1,000 flights annually to 10,000 flights annually, by the time the project is completed.

Funding of the project has been divided among federal, state and local governments on a 90/5/5 share basis.

The assessment report states: "The results of the study recommend that Colonel Dyke field be developed as a Basic Utility-Stage II airport... Such a facility would serve the majority of the aviation demand forecast by the study and also enhance the development potential of Bethel and the surrounding area."

Andover East Andover

Albany Hunt's Corner and Vicinity

By MARJORIE JODREY

Floyd Emerson Jr. was taken by ambulance to the Rumford Community Hospital where he was a patient a week. He returned home on May 22.

Mrs. Rex Thurston and sons, Danny, Jon and Kurt and her mother, Mrs. Walter Jodrey, spent their weekend in Manchester, N.H., the guests of her sister, Mrs. Francis Humphrey and children.

Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Myshall in the loss of their brother, H. Clinton Porter, a former Andover resident.

Mrs. Minnie Akers has returned home after spending the winter in Florida.

Boy Scout #573 went to a camporee at Mt. Blue State Park over the weekend. Some of those attending were D.J. Parker, Ricky Mixer, Steve Learned, Scott Emery, Jeff Thurston, Jeff Bailey, Chad Bishop and Scoutmaster Woody Greeke.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Poor and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Farrington, Mr. and Mrs. George Olson, Sr., Bethel, Melvina and Emily Cummings, Madison, and Debra Briggs and Richard Gilsdorf.

The fifth and sixth grades of the Andover Elementary School went on a field trip to the Maine Aquarium in Saco and the Scarborough salt flats on Thursday, May 23.

Now this weekend the vegetable gardens go in.

Last Friday night we went up to Conway, N.H., with Flo and Warren Cairns.

Saturday evening we attended a family birthday party for Maife Ellen Cole who was three years old.

Wednesday evening we attended the Crescent Park School musical concert and award night at Telstar.

Thursday night Margaret Barton and I and Dan Bennett and Brett Barton went to Lewiston for supper and shopping. Dave Bennett and Scott Dyer attended a rock band concert at the Civic Center in Portland.

The annual meeting of the trustees and officers of the Andover Public Library will be held June 11 at 7 p.m. at the library.

Memorial Day weekend with her aunt, Arthur and Ruth Gilbert.

Mabel Walker and Diana were hostesses at a housewares party one day this past week, with 12 ladies attending.

Alanson Cummings was taken ill last Thursday and had to be taken to a doctor in Harrison. He has to see a specialist for tests.

The Youth Group of the Calvary Congregational Church in South Andover had their last gathering Friday, May 17.

Ten of the group plus four chaperones went to the Mollyocket Motel Spa in South Woodstock for an afternoon of swimming in their heated pool. Attending were Lynda Salway, Vickie Hutchins, Carla Holliday, Robin Michaud, Kris Delano, Yvette Jones, Christina Gammon, Cindy Newcomb, Wally Smith, and Davy Smith.

Chaperones were Pastor and Mrs. Grover, Rosalie Holliday, and Barbara Bailey. Following swimming there was a trip to McDonald's in Rumford for the next three years.

Harriet Stowell and her sisters, Carolyn Vaughan of Dixfield, and Janet Bowers of Rumford, were in Berlin and Gorham, shopping and for lunch at the Yokohama last week.

Barbara Lewis, Jamie and Matthew, have just returned home from visiting their parents, James and Doris Nevison, in Dallas, Tex., for the past two weeks.

RALPH J. TUCCI

Ralph J. Tucci, 67, of 7 Witchwood Drive, Littleton, Mass., a long-time summer resident of Bryant Pond, died Saturday, May 25, 1985, at the Nashoba Community Hospital, Ayer, Mass., following short illness.

He was born at Worcester, Mass., the son of Angelo and Marie Ricardi Tucci. He was a graduate of Becker College in Worcester, and had worked for the Raytheon Corp., as an engineer for more than 40 years, retiring in 1981. He had lived in Littleton for 30 years.

Survivors include his wife, Helvi Heikkinen Tucci, of Littleton; a son, Robert J. of Dover, N.H.; a daughter, Mrs. Sandra Pacy, of Pepperell, Mass.; two sisters.

Graveside committal services will be held Thursday at 3 p.m. at the West Paris Finnish Cemetery. In lieu of flowers those who wish may make a contribution in Mr. Tucci's memory to the American Cancer Society, c/o Hazel Watanen, RFD 2, Box 2235, South Paris, Maine 04281.

Chamber of Commerce annual banquet June 5

Plans for the 1985 Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce annual banquet are complete, reports Barbara D. Brown, chairwoman of the event.

This year's festivities are scheduled to take place Wednesday, June 5, at Sunday River Skiway's South Ridge Lodge, beginning with a 6-7 p.m. social hour, followed by an expansive, tasty, all-you-can-eat dinner buffet.

A short business meeting will follow dinner, after which service awards will be presented to two outstanding high school seniors and two outstanding citizens from the area.

The entertainment portion of the evening will feature Ted White and his country-western band. They recently delighted local people when they performed in concert at Gould Academy.

The planning committee feels that an outstanding program has been prepared and wishes to stress that all residents of surrounding communities are cordially invited to attend this Chamber function, although they quickly point out that ticket sales are limited. For more information and/or reservations, call 824-2282, or 665-2226.

Bethel Inn Golf

A good weekend brought out a large number of players for the Flag tournament.

Saturday winners were Matt Digan and Mike Gardner. They reached the 18th green before they put in their flags. Sunday the Flag winner was Dick Rasor. He almost reached the 20th green before he had to plant his flag. Second place went to Darren White, finishing on the 18th green.

Sunday's Scramble winners were John Morton, Bob Demers, Roger Smith and Anne Moran with a fine 31. Second place, with a 32, was the team of Jim Lunney, Bernie Petrie, Coke Rooney, Darby Beliveau and Marc Marier. Third went to Bren Matthews, Doug Smart, John Tapley and Russ Gregoire with a score of 33.

A scramble next Sunday, plus a weekend Low Gross and Low Net is scheduled.

MARRIED

In West Bethel, April 27, by Rev. Norman Rust, Carole Ann Bennett and Robert Blackburn Jr.

DIED

In Ayer, Mass., Ralph J. Tucci of Littleton, Mass., summer resident of Bryant Pond, aged 67 years.

Ginny Walker

Local woman becoming professional gospel singer

A local woman whose laugh and singing voice are familiar to many Bethel residents will be starting a new career June 2, Ginny Walker, who has sung on many occasions during the last 40 years, will now be available, complete with PA systems and back up tapes for gospel programs and concerts in the area.

Ginny—whom some know as Arlene—hopes to present her gospel program not only in the immediate area but anywhere in New England.

She says she remembers singing gospel songs as many as 50 years ago for her father's Baptist congregations.

She is the daughter of the late Rev. Herman Potter and the late Elsie A. Potter Imman. She is the mother of four sons, two of who are also active in music.

Ginny will be accompanied on stage by her husband Donald, who will sing with her at times and is her greatest critic. Her first concert will be June 2 at the Bethel Gospel Center.

BIKE-A-THON PRIZE WINNERS

Prize winners in the bike-a-thon sponsored by the Bethel Rotary Club on Sunday, May 19, were as follows:

(1) Most money collected ($109.50), Jason Berry of Newry. He won a AM/FM cassette radio, totebag and T-shirt, bowling set.

(2) Runner-up ($45), Nathan Harvey (free two movies and VCR rental).

(3) Most miles ridden, Carter David.

(4) Youngest rider, Jason Berry.

(5) Oldest rider, Linda McKeachie.

MUNDT-ALLEN AUXILIARY MEMBERSHIP IN PROGRESS

Mundt-Allen Unit, American Legion Auxiliary, is conducting its annual membership drive, in anticipation of being able to present 100 percent membership at Department Convention in Bangor. For the past few years, Unit #81 has proudly presented 100 percent paid members during the membership march and wishes to continue this tradition. In order to meet this deadline, members are urged to mail their dues to Jeri Brooks, P.O. Box 4, or Ramona Lowe, RFD 1 Box 505, by June 1.

Green things are growing at Telstar High School!

After many cold months of lying idle, the Telstar solar greenhouse is in full operation. Students from the Special Education Composite and Resource Rooms started seeds in early March. Each day Roy Hart and Frank Corriveau have monitored temperature and water, with occasional help from Jonathan Dubey, David Nixon, Rodney Westleigh and Richard Thomas. April and May have found staff and students busily transplanting seedlings into flats using some soil donated by Groan and McGurn Greenhouse.

The greenhouse has been a part of the Composite Room's vocational program. The students have learned what materials and skills are needed to maintain a greenhouse and plantings and how to price and sell plants.

A visit and tour through the greenhouses at Groan and McGurn's in West Bethel on May 21 gave all the opportunity to see how a large business is run and to ask many questions.

The plants have flourished with lots of care. The program is being completed with a plant sale on Friday, May 24, and Thursday, May 30.

The Composite Room would again like to thank Karen and Eric Paul for their contributions and expertise.

Tri-Town Rescue

Tri-Town had a very successful weekend, with the Old Parisienne's dance and supper bringing in over $500 to the service, and the Walk, Bike-a-thon pledges over $300. Tri-Town sincerely thanks Linwood Andrews and the entire band for their generous donation Saturday night, May 18.

Search and Rescue had good weather Saturday, May 19, for its annual 10-mile walk or bike to Greenwood City and back to West Paris. Twenty participants either walked or biked the entire 10 miles. Team members wore their new orange vests while patrolling the road and checking the bikers and walkers.

Training session this month was entirely on equipment. Attendants practiced on the new drivers as patients, with equipment from the units. Tri-Town hopes everyone had a safe and enjoyable Memorial Day weekend.

The auxiliary is meeting Monday night, June 3, to plan the summer activities. The meeting is at the West Paris branch of the Bethel Savings Bank at 7 p.m. New members are always welcome.

Safety Tips: The best antidote for poisoning is prevention.

That may be easy to say but not as easy to do. When hazardous or toxic materials are saved in regular containers, you are asking for trouble. Medicines that are outdated really should be thrown down the toilet, not in the waste basket where inquisitive children can look. And all medicines should be kept in a locked compartment, out of reach of small children. Those child-proof safety lids are frustrating for adults, but amazingly easy for children to figure out. The best remedy is to keep them out of reach.

When something is ingested that shouldn't be, be sure to keep the container and estimate the amount that was eaten. Poison control should be the first call (1-I.D. No. 800-442-6305). The next call should be to the ambulance, if poison control advises it. Tri-Town Rescue is reached through the Oxford County Sheriff's department (1-I.D. No. 800-482-4733.)

With the onset of good weather and summer vacations on the way, the number of cars on the road is greatly increased. Extra caution is encouraged. Even that quick trip to the store may find much more summer traffic.

Good job by all members of the track team!

GETTING READY FOR THE GREENHOUSE SALE, Telstar students Roy Hart and Frank Corriveau, and teacher aide Sally Downing, prepare plants for last week's sale, conducted by the composite room.

Telstar track

The Telstar Rebels had their highest point output of the season—63.5! The team lost to Winthrop but looked good in their efforts.

Highlights of the dual meet:

•Bernie Haines scored 23 points with four first places (long jump, triple jump, 100 meter, 200 meter) and a second in the high jump—an event he learned only a week ago!

•David Kersey took two first places (high hurdles and pole vault), second in the intermediate hurdles, and a third in the high jump.

•Jim Kimball had his best day of the season with a win in the 400 meter and a tie for second in the shot put.

•Mike Verrill tossed the javelin out 149 feet, his best of the season, and won the event.

•Jay Hastings placed second in both the pole vault and triple jump.

•Keith Clanton took a second in the 3200 meters and a third in the 1600 meters.

•Donald Barker raced to a third in the high hurdles.

•Jon Head captured a third place finish in the 400 meters.

The boys' track team scored 55 points in losing to Mount Abram.

Highlights of the meet:

•David Kersey had an outstanding day! David placed first in four events and ran a leg for the winning relay team. He placed first in the high hurdles, intermediate hurdles, pole vault, and high jump.

•Bernie Haines took first in both the long jump and triple jump. Both leaps exceeded his best jumps to date. Along with the jumps, Bernie placed second in the 100 and 200 meters plus anchoring the winning relay race.

•Gerald Morin's throw in the javelin qualified him for the upcoming regional meet. He placed second in the event.

•Mike Verrill placed second in the high jump.

•Jim Kimball took a second in the 400 meters.

•The relay team of Kersey, Jon Head, Jay Hastings, and Haines placed first in the 4x100 meters.

•Third place finishers included Keith Clanton in the 3200 meter run, Todd Davis in both the high hurdles and 1600 meters, Jay Hastings in the pole vault, and Jon Head in the 400 meters.

Good job by all members of the track team!

The Telstar girls' track team scored a thrilling victory last Tuesday over Winthrop by a score of 71-65.

Outstanding performances at the meet included:

•Karen Gould—first in the 100 meter hurdles, second in the 100 meter dash.

•Deb Bodwell—second in the 100 meter dash, and fourth in the shot.

•Linda James—second in the high jump.

•Jane Head—second in the two mile.

•Denise Gauthier—second in the javelin, third in the 300 meter hurdles, and fourth in the 100 meter hurdles.

•Sarah Chapman—first in the 100 meter hurdles, second in the high jump, and third in the 100 meter dash.

•Traci Higgins—first in the triple jump, second in the long jump, second in the shot, and second in the two mile.

•Amy Otero—first in the 200 meter dash and second in the 100 meter dash.

•Mary Taylor—second in the javelin.

•Darlene Haskell—second in the mile.

•Angela Sawyer—fourth in the 100 meter dash.

•Michelle Cummings—fourth in the triple jump.

This week both boys and girls have a Tuesday meet at Sacopee Valley and another with Rumford on Thursday. They will travel to Saco on Saturday to compete in the regionals.

CARD OF THANKS

Last night when I was sitting in the audience and listening to the praises of Mrs. Harrington, my name was called to receive the Scouter's Wife Award. I was speechless. Being any part of scouting is, in my opinion, a second family. As your own family, each scout is also a part in some way of you. As you look at these scouts from my eyes, I see fun, laughter, triumphs, and most of all, I see respect and friendships that I hope will never be lost. To this I add my admiration. To all the members of Troop 565, Ray and Janice Harrington, Ronnie Hanscom and John Elliot, may I say I give to all of you my respect, friendship and love. Thank you for the honor you have bestowed on me.

Christine Hanscom

THANK YOU
